

On Thursday June 10th – Saturday June 12th, KBT, in partnership with KYTC Department of Aviation, is hosting a team from Joby Aviation to learn more about and discuss all-electric, vertical take-off and landing (eVTOL) aircraft and the opportunities for Kentucky. We hope you can join us as advocates and educators for economic growth. Please read the following itinerary. You are invited to attend either or both afternoon events in Bardstown and Lexington.

Go to <https://www.jobyaviation.com/> for more information on this impressive and emerging international company, with over 700 employees, board members from NASA and investments from Uber ($75M) and Toyota ($350M). The Joby team joining us wants to meet with thought and policy leaders to inform them of how this technology will impact transportation and business. Additionally, we learn more about Kentucky's focus on talent and workforce development through our aviation education programs.
