Update on the Landscape of Substance Use Disorders

A. Kentucky Office of Drug Control Policy Update

Van Ingram, Executive Director, Kentucky Office of Drug Control Policy, discussed the trends in drug overdose deaths and the progress of addiction recovery and resources.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Moser, Mr. Ingram stated that there are 11 multi-jurisdictional drug task forces receiving grants from the Justice Cabinet to seize drugs, the high intensity drug trafficking areas (HIDTA) program works to seize drugs, and grants are given to the Kentucky State Police to do for highway interdiction programming.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Witten, Mr. Ingram stated that there was a federally funded plan in 2018 that reduced overdose deaths 15 percent but there was an increase of deaths during the pandemic.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Callaway, Mr. Ingram stated that the majority of black overdose deaths are in Jefferson County and more outreach is being discussed for that community.

B. Substance Use Disorder Treatment Access

Judge Kevin Mullins, Subcommittee Chair, Kentucky Judicial Commission on Mental Health, discussed the capacity for substance use disorder (SUD) treatment, factors in the decline in drug overdose mortality rate in Eastern Kentucky, the 2023 Drug Overdose Fatality Report, the recovery ecosystem index mapping system, persistent poverty counties, the Senate Bill 90 behavioral health conditional dismissal program with implementation dates, and several success stories from the program's participants.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Dotson, Judge Mullins stated that law enforcement fights the supply of drugs and early intervention prevention programs fight the demand for drugs.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Witten, Judge Mullins stated that there is always a need for more treatment centers and more juvenile treatment beds.

C. Mapping of Legislation, Policies, Coverage and Resources

Shawna Mitchell, Administrator, Kentucky Judicial Commission on Mental Health, described the commission, discussed the sequential intercept model (SIM) tool to map the criminal justice system.

D. Opioid Abatement: Current Programs and Initiatives

Chris Evans, Executive Director, Kentucky Opioid Abatement Advisory Commission, discussed the use and distribution of settlement funds to enhance and support organizations fighting the opioid crisis.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Moser, Mr. Evans stated that the commission recognized that the intake of data needs to be enhanced and is assessing the outcomes from the first group of grant disbursements.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Bratcher, Mr. Evans stated that the commission is exploring the possibility for offering research innovation grants.

E. Comprehensive Supervised Substance Use Disorder Treatment: Insurance Coverage (2024 House Bill 290, Braxton's Law)

Molly Fitzgerald King, Licensed Professional Clinical Counselor, Advocate, discussed comprehensive supervised SUD treatment, the lack of intermediate recovery care to sustain sobriety, and working towards an evidence-based recovery system.

Tom Stephens, President, Chief Executive Officer, Kentucky Association of Health Plans, discussed the intention of House Bill 290 from the 2024 session and the challenge to pay for treatment in relation to annual premiums.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Moser, Mr. Stephens stated that in-home treatment is a modality that is included in the Aware Recovery Care program.

In response to questions and comments from Senator Berg, Mr. Stephens stated that he would follow up with information regarding private pay insurance expenditures. Ms. Fitzgerald King discussed the average price for detox hospitalization and partial-hospitalization.

Laura Graven, Advocate, discussed costs covered out-of-pocket compared to private pay insurance for SUD recovery care.

Update on the Health Care Workforce

A. Primary Care Psychiatry Fellowship

Dr. Allen Brenzel, Medical Director, Department for Behavioral Health, Developmental and Intellectual Disabilities, Cabinet for Health and Family Services discussed the need for a pilot program to address the behavioral health needs and the partnership with the Kentucky Primary Care Association.

Stephen Houghland, MD, Chief Medical Officer, Kentucky Primary Care Association, discussed the support needed for additional training for people working on the frontline of healthcare to better meet the needs of patients.

Robert McCarron, DO, Associate Dean, Continuing Medical Education, Director, Train New Trainers (TNT) Primary Care Psychiatry Fellowship, Irvine School of Medicine, University of California discussed the need for prevention, early intervention, and education for SUD, TNT fellowship training teams, and their future benefits.

In response to questions and comments from Representative Moser, Dr. Brenzel stated that there is no specific funding for the TNT fellowship initiative, the initial pilot was funded by the Department for Behavioral Health, Developmental and Intellectual Disabilities but needs a new funding source to continue the program.

In response to questions and comments from Senator Berg, Dr. McCarron stated that the TNT program does not open additional CPT codes for billing but helps the provider to better care for the patient.

B. Healthcare Worker Loan Relief Program of the Commonwealth

Matt Coleman, MSM, Director, Kentucky Office of Rural Health, discussed the Healthcare Worker Loan Relief Program of the Commonwealth, the Kentucky State Loan Repayment Program, each program's funding endeavors, location of loan repayment awardees, and guidelines for the programs.

C. Area Health Education Centers and Graduate Medical Education Residency Slots

Chipper Griffith, MD, Dean, College of Medicine, University of Kentucky, discussed the growth in the number of medical students with the addition of regional campuses, and the addition of residency slots to promote physician retention.

Angela Dearing, MD, Executive Vice Dean, College of Medicine, University of Kentucky, discussed the increase of specific graduate medical education slots and new primary care programs to increase the number of resident physicians.

Jim Ballard, Director, Center for Interprofessional and Community Health Education, University of Kentucky, discussed the Health Resources Services Administration (HRSA) primary care medical student program's grant and goals, the average amount of debt for medical in-state students, and the number of scholarships awarded from the grant. He discussed the Kentucky Area Health Education Centers program budget, outreach, and number of participants.

D. Health Resources and Service Administration: Grant to Increase Primary Training and Providers in Rural Areas

Jeffrey M. Bumpous, MD, FACS, Interim Dean, Vice President, Academic Medical Affairs, School of Medicine, University of Louisville, discussed the HRSA grant's principal strategies to increase medical student training in primary care fields and the impact of the grant.

Mary DeLetter, PhD, RN Interim Dean, Professor, School of Nursing, University of Louisville, discussed the HRSA grant awards to the School of Nursing in graduate and undergraduate education in the advanced nursing education workforce and the impact on the state.
