

318.077 Review and comment on amendments to code -- Appeals.

- (1) No amendment of the code or any other related administrative regulation shall be promulgated by the department without the prior review and comment of the Housing, Buildings and Construction Advisory Committee under the requirements of KRS 198B.030(8).
- (2) Any person aggrieved by any administrative regulation or amendment thereto promulgated by the department, within thirty (30) days after the action has become final, may appeal to the Circuit Court. For the purposes of this subsection, "persons aggrieved" shall include any person directly or indirectly injured or threatened with injury on account of any administrative regulation or amendment thereto promulgated by the department, whether or not that person was a party to the proceedings out of which the order administrative regulation, or amendment arose.
