In response to questions by Representative Petrie, Ms. Scutchfield stated that the board had revised the fee structure, which had not been updated for approximately ten (10) years, to cover staff and material costs related to providing the data. Kentucky's fees were much lower than most other states. Representative Petrie requested that the board provide subcommittee members and subject matter committee members with a cost-based analysis of staff time and materials to justify the fee increases.

In response to a question by Co-Chair Hale, Ms. Scutchfield stated that these requirements were already effective because there was an emergency administrative regulation in place.

A motion was made and seconded to approve the following amendment: to amend Section 5 to comply with the drafting requirements of KRS Chapter 13A. Without objection, and with agreement of the agency, the amendment was approved.

A motion was made and seconded to approve the following amendments: to amend the NECESSITY, FUNCTION, AND CONFORMITY paragraph and Section 1 to comply with the drafting requirements of KRS Chapter 13A. Without objection, and with agreement of the agency, the amendments were approved.

Game

301 KAR 2:172. Deer hunting seasons, zones, and requirements.

Representative Turner proposed a subcommittee amendment to: (1)(a) reinsert the definition for “additional deer permit;” (b) delete the definition for “deer management permit;” and (c) modify the definition for “special deer hunt;” (2) delete references to deer management permits; (3) delete the additional two (2) Zone 1 modern gun hunt days in September; and (4) clarify that the special deer hunt shall only be overseen and sponsored by the department. Representative Turner stated that, after meeting with many stakeholders, these amendments were intended to establish fairness. These amendments reinstated provisions for additional deer permits in lieu of deer management permits. Recently, the department raised sportsmen fees for seniors and the disabled; therefore, it seemed incongruous to now reduce deer hunting fees. There was some confusion regarding special hunts (or mentor hunts). These amendments clarified that a special deer hunt shall only be overseen and sponsored by the department. Outside groups could volunteer for a special deer hunt with the approval of the department. These amendments also sought to curb nonresident special deer hunts by establishing that these hunts are for Kentucky residents, military members and their families stationed in Kentucky, and those enrolled in Kentucky educational institutions. These amendments also delete the additional two (2) Zone 1 modern gun hunt days in September. Issues related to deer hunting with crossbows were not part of these requirements, but were in another administrative regulation. Nuisance deer were a problem, but farmers were able to mitigate the damage pursuant to deer depredation provisions.

In response to a question by Representative Turner, Ms. Waldrop stated that Zone 1 had the most liberal hunting provisions pertaining to deer because the population was highest in that zone. Zone 4, on the other hand, usually had only five (5) to ten (10) deer per square mile; therefore, requirements were more restrictive in that zone. Last year, Eastern Kentucky experienced an outbreak of Epizootic Hemorrhagic Disease (blue-tongue disease), which greatly diminished the population. The deer bag limit in Zone 4 was being reduced from four (4) to two (2), and only one (1) doe may be harvested. That doe may only be harvested using archery equipment, during youth hunts, or during the last three (3) days of the muzzleloader season. A hunter could take up to four (4) deer in Zone 3; however, a firearm could only be used to take up to one (1) doe.

Dr. Carloss stated that there was a significant overpopulation problem with nuisance deer in Zone 1, resulting in damage to agricultural crops and vehicle collisions, which resulted in monetary expense and sometimes loss of life. The spread of chronic wasting disease was directly proportional to deer overpopulation. Most hunters preferred to hunt bucks rather than does. The September deer hunt was limited to only does. Dr. Carloss stated that he was also opposed to the loss of fees, but studies demonstrated that the biggest deterrent to harvesting does was the inconvenience of having to go through the process of purchasing additional licenses. It was common practice for deer destroyed because of crop depredation to be left to decompose, as required by law. If more deer were harvested, that meat could be used for projects like Hunters for the Hungry.

Mr. Bevins stated that the objectives of the September deer season were to encourage the harvesting of does as a population management tool and to provide hunting opportunities for sportsmen. There was consensus among the nine (9) member Kentucky Fish and Wildlife Commission to retain the September deer season as originally proposed by the department. The process for farmers to get permits related to deer depredation was tedious for both the department and the farmers. This administrative regulation could always be amended in the future if the provisions proved to be problematic.

Mr. Hayes stated that the League of Kentucky Sportsmen requested that this administrative regulation become effective as submitted, without the subcommittee amendments. Concerned stakeholders who were now commenting did not comment during the earlier stages of the development of these requirements. The development of these requirements was diverse, open, and transparent.

Co-Chair Hale thanked the commissioners for their service to the Commonwealth.

Mr. Ohlmann stated that Safari Club International, Kentuckiana Chapter, was opposed to the subcommittee amendments. The costs of damage from deer overpopulation were greater than the fees lost pursuant to the original proposal. A September deer hunt was a potential recruiting tool. Nuisance tags did allow farmers to address deer depredation; however, most tags went to waste because farmers did not have the time to have the meat processed and processors were not usually open except during deer season. An organized nuisance hunt in September would allow processors to open.

Mr. Zimmer, representing the Fifth District Federation of the Kentucky League of Sportsmen, stated that his district was the most active in the league, representing thirteen (13) counties of sportsmen. The Fifth District Federation supported this administrative regulation without the subcommittee amendments, to which it was opposed. Human encroachment on deer habitat, along with overpopulation, was causing damage to property and health.

Mr. Blanford stated that the Zone 1 September hunt should remain because it was a time-tested deer management technique to remove does, which ate more and thus did more property damage. Current control measures had failed.

In response to a question by Senator Raque Adams, Mr. Ohlmann stated that there was an administrative regulation for farmers to address deer depredation; however, any harvest that resulted from killing the deer was wasted.

Mr. Roberts stated that these drastic changes to deer hunting requirements were developed with little public input and with vague data. Deer populations could be depleted quickly, but might take years to recover. Mr. Roberts requested that the subcommittee amendments be approved.

Mr. Strader thanked Co-Chair Hale, Representative Turner, and the agency for their work for sportsmen. It was unclear if the Kentucky League of Sportsmen voted in opposition to the subcommittee amendments. Farmers had remedies for deer depredation. The September deer season, by harvesting does early, might cut short the time fawns had with their mother to learn to survive. Mr. Strader stated that he supported the subcommittee amendments and believed that most of his followers would do the same. A doe season was necessary, but September was a bad time of year for that season.

Mr. Morris stated that he supported the subcommittee amendments. The September deer hunt was too drastic of a change and threatened herd management. Most sportsmen were unaware of these proposed changes. Additional deer tags could be purchased online via smart phone within approximately two (2) minutes.

In response to a question by Co-Chair Hale, Ms. Stivers stated that the cabinet accepted the subcommittee amendments. Mr. Jemley stated that the department agreed to the subcommittee amendments. Ms. Waldrop stated that it was the consensus of the cabinet and the department to agree to the subcommittee amendments.

A motion was made and seconded to approve the following amendments: (1) to amend the NECESSITY, FUNCTION, AND CONFORMITY paragraph and Sections 1 and 9 to comply with the drafting requirements of KRS Chapter 13A; (2) to amend Section 1 to: (a) reinsert the definition for “additional deer permit;” (b) delete the definition for “deer management permit;” and (c) modify the definition for “special deer hunt;” (3) to amend Sections 2 and 7 to delete references to deer management permits; (4) to amend Section 5 to delete the additional two (2) Zone 1 modern gun hunt days in September; and (5) to amend Section 12 to clarify that the special deer hunt shall only be overseen and sponsored by the department.
