Accordingly, KTC will develop and host a free traffic data service to enable users to "access an expert" to conduct small studies and get answers to traffic safety problems. These answers would ordinarily be out of reach due to: a) difficulty and expense of contracting; or b) lack of awareness that such expert resources exist and are available to them. The project will also develop a website documenting and publicizing the service.

178. 2600000296 University of Kentucky Research Foundation 109 Kinkead Hall Lexington, KY 40506	October 01, 2025 - September 30, 2026	Crash Analysis	$118,812.00	Federal 100%; Upon receipt of invoices.	Provide funds for an analysis of Kentucky's intersection crashes to identify the weights to apply to crash types and speeds using existing data. The advantage that ERC has over EPDO is that existing crash data can be used to predict the outcome of future crashes without a severe crash having occurred. That is, a high-speed angle crash that resulted in a C crash may still be weighted higher than other C (or even B) crashes due to the likelihood of a KA occurring. This changes the ERC into a proactive rather than reactive approach. Intersections statewide (including local roads) can be prioritized by ERC to identify the most (likely) severe intersections. The ERC counts will be integrated with AADT counts and estimates to develop SPFs for all public road intersections. Kentucky has an existing intersection database. This process will create a safety score EEC for all intersections in the state based on ERC. ERC-based SPFs will be developed to generate EECs that can be sorted creating a priority list.

Provide funds for Integrating Citation Data with SHSP 2025-29 to improve the integration of citation data with roadway data. Progress will be measured by the number of additional citation records successfully integrated with roadway data for the years 2023-2024; and improve the integration of citation data with crash data. The progress will be measured by the percentage of citation records successfully integrated with crash data based upon the nine newly established SHSP Emphasis Areas.
