Part III: Differences to Local Government Mandate Statement from Prior Versions

Part II, above, pertains to HB 174 GA. The fiscal impact of HB 174 GA is unchanged from that of HB 174 HCS 1. HB 174 GA includes the HFA 1, which was adopted and made no substantive change (as relates to the local mandate). The only changes to HB 174 GA were to:

- remove "physical or" and "or abuse" from the provision exempting photographs or videos that depict the death, killing, rape, or sexual assault of a person from the Open Records Act. The affect is to allow photographs or videos depicting physical assault or abuse of a person to be subject to Open Records; and
- remove Section 2, amending KRS 61.872, pertaining to the right to inspect public records. This section had been included in the HCS solely to make technical changes. The deletion does not have a substantive impact.

The fiscal impact of HB 174 HCS 1 was unchanged from that of HB 174 as introduced. HB 174 HCS 1 made the following changes to the introduced version:

- permitted the photographs or videos to be made available at the request of any party (or family or legal representative or an insurance company) involved in the underlying incident, while the introduced version did not allow them to be made available to these persons;
- deleted the references to "gruesome photograph or video";
- deleted language applying the bill's provisions to civil or criminal proceedings;
- deleted language allowing the retroactive application to videos or photographs in existence prior to the bill's effective date; and
- made technical changes relating to the facsimile or email transmission of applications to inspect public records.
