STATE IMPACT: Class A, B, & C felonies are based on an average daily prison rate of $75.91. Community Custody Class C and most Class D felons are housed in one of seventy-seven (77) full service or regional jails for up to five (5) years. Department of Corrections' cost to incarcerate a felony inmate in a jail is $36.70 per day, which includes $31.34 per diem, medical costs, & central office administrative costs (substance abuse treatment not included). Projections are based on the daily rate x 365 days x number of years. Offenders may have multiple offenses or incarcerated on other charges unless otherwise noted. Unless otherwise noted, numbers will include inchoate offenses at the underlying offense level.

Projected Impact: NONE MINIMAL to MODERATE (< $1 million) SIGNIFICANT (> $1 million)

This legislation adds serious mental illness as a factor which would prohibit an offender from being subject to execution under a capital offense. To be applicable, the defendant would have to have a documented serious mental illness at the time of offense. The legislation lists five (5) mental disorders that would be considered: schizophrenia, schizoaffective disorder; bipolar disorder; major depressive disorder; and delusional disorder.

It is not known how many offenders would be precluded from a sentence of death under this legislation. Given the relatively small number of offenders receiving a capital conviction, it is noted that the number of offenders who would meet the criteria established in this legislation would be a smaller percentage of all capital convictions.

There are currently thirty (30) inmates on death row in Kentucky. It is assumed that if not receiving a sentence of death, a defendant targeted by this legislation may well be sentenced to life in prison.

Inmates currently under the death penalty have served an average of 25.8 years from the start of their incarceration. Kentucky has not had an execution in ten (10) years. Inmates who have been executed spent an average of 12 years from incarceration until death. Male inmates with a sentence of death are housed at the Kentucky State Penitentiary, which has an average annual cost to incarcerate of $37,322.43 per inmate. Female inmates with a sentence of death are housed at the Kentucky Correctional Institute for Women at an annual cost of $29,304.82. Kentucky has one (1) female inmate with a capital conviction.

For the 898 inmates currently serving a sentence of life without parole, the current average length of time served is 18.6 years (reflective of when the statute was changed). For inmates who have died while incarcerated serving on a life sentence, the average time served prior to death was 26 years. The average annual cost to incarcerate offenders with a life sentence is $25,950.61 per year. However, given the specific mental health needs of the offenders identified by this legislation, they would likely be housed in a mental health unit at a slighter higher cost of $30,685.80 annually.

Additional savings to the state in a life sentence rather than a sentence of death would be cost avoidance associated with an execution, including lethal injection drugs, handling of the body (ambulance, coroner, crematorium, etc.), the execution team (training and overtime pay), and added security for the public, press, etc. Also eliminated would be costs the state bears for legal appeals available to death row inmates.

LOCAL IMPACT: Local governments are responsible for the cost of incarcerating individuals charged with Class A or B misdemeanors and felony defendants until disposition of the case. While the expense varies by jail, this estimated impact will be based on $31.34 per day, which equals the per diem and medical that DOC pays jails to house felony offenders. Since the per diem is an estimated average cost of housing an inmate, the per diem may not be the actual housing cost for the jail. Projections are based on the daily rate x 365 days x number of years. Offenders may have multiple offenses or incarcerated on other charges unless otherwise noted. Unless otherwise noted, numbers will include inchoate offenses at the underlying offense level.

Projected Impact: NONE MINIMAL to MODERATE (< $1 million) SIGNIFICANT (> $1 million)

NOTE: Consideration should be given to the cumulative impact of all bills that increase the felon population or that impose new obligations on state or local governments. The Department of Corrections and local jails continue to operate over capacity. Without steps to reduce the population, any legislation that increases population or lengthens the term of incarceration will have a significant impact on correctional operations.
